

The Northland Beckons: An Illustrated Haiku Journey

Written by Sandra Hisakuni

Illustrated by Sofia Hisakuni

Journey to the beautiful Boundary Waters of Minnesota and Canada. This sweet collection of haiku poetry allows readers to explore nature and meet the animals who call this treasured wilderness home.

In our busy, tech-filled lives, author and illustrator, mother-daughter team Sandra and Sofia Hisakuni, invite you to slow down and explore the wonders of nature through the ancient art of haiku. They draw upon their extensive experience of living in Japan and camping through the canoe country of Northern Minnesota and Canada. Through creative haiku, vibrant illustrations and author commentary, readers learn of this treasured land. For those who are familiar with the Northlands canoe country, it is a reminder to come home to our shared wilderness.

Sandra Hisakuni is an English Language teacher who has taught in Japan, China, and the United States. She enjoys spending time in the wilderness and with her son and daughter. She lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Sofia Hisakuni has always had a passion for expressing her creativity through art, drawing, and design. She currently works in marketing, enjoys spending time outdoors, and visiting her mom. She lives in Los Angeles, California.

For interview requests:

Sandra Hisakuni

Phone: 651-343-8040

Email: sandra@sandrawriter.com

Website: sandrawriter.com

(free lesson plans on author website)

Title: The Northland Beckons

Author: Sandra Hisakuni

Publisher: Beaver's Pond Press

ISBN: 9781643436012

Price: $22.95

Publish date: March 12, 2024

Binding: Hardcover

Pages: 48

Trim Size: 7 x 9 inches

Genre: Children's Poetry

Available from: Itasca Books itascabooks.com

"Sandra and Sofia love the wilderness, and that love shines through the writing and illustrations. I cannot recommend this book highly enough; if I could give the book a six-star rating, I would."

-Philip Van Heusen
for Readers' Favorite
Five Stars

"The rhythm runs like silk over your ears. The tranquility in the lines will ease children...adults will enjoy the depictions of wildlife. Lovely words and images await you in The Northland Beckons."

-Courtnee Turner Hoyle
for Readers' Favorite
Five Stars

